

Business Overview: Presto Dash

Because the user is the killer app

With the abundance of data available to today's knowledge workers, users can waste countless hours searching, retrieving, combining, and sharing information instead of focusing on the business task at hand. Enterprises need a better way help raise the game of their knowledge workers and take advantage of the Web 2.0 benefits for greater employee productivity.

Presto Dash solves this by creating a powerful, flexible relationship between the employees that your enterprise relies upon and the information they need to fulfill their daily tasks.

What you want, when you want it, how you want it

Dash solves productivity barriers by packaging the latest web technologies into a browser-based desktop solution to allow users to access, process many pieces of diverse information, combine them in a meaningful way, and then share the results with others.

Dash Benefits

- Accurate Decisions – Timely, integrated views of disparate data
- Faster Responses – Self service with less IT dependence
- Tailored Answers – User driven data integration & formatting
- Business Agility - Transform data into intelligence
- Reduced Costs – Leverage existing and partner assets

Increase Employee Productivity

The Dash user-driven web based business solution leverages real-time information to facilitate the merger of enterprise and publicly available data in a meaningful and useful manner.

Dash personalizes information retrieval, orchestration, integration, and presentation of data in one consolidated view. The benefit of this is that users can quickly interact with the information they deem most useful to their task at hand, wherever that information may reside through Dash's self-service capabilities. Workers can now define their own user experience; one that is intuitive and streamlined for how they work best.
